The ceremony which united these two loving hearts was performed at 10 oclock, and after congratulations were extended all repaired to the dining room, where an elegant repast was served. The bride was attired in a gray traveling suit, a la mode, and the groom in conventional black. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Herren, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Herren, Mrs. Mary Knight and Mr. H. A. Updegraff were united in the holy bonds of matrimouy. By 8 p. m. the church was well filled with friends and relatives of the bride and groom, and at 8:15 were heard the strains of "Lorena's Wedding March." Almost immediately the bridal party led by Miss Marie Clifton and Martin Hoxie, appeared and marched up the aisle to the altar where a very brief and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Schillinger. The bride looked superb in a gown of blue and white which suited her to perfection. The groom wore the conventional black suit. After the couple had received the congratulations of the guests, cakes, lemonade, and coffee were served. The seats were then cleared away and a general good time was enjoyed by all until eleven oclock, when they departed wishing the bride and groom a long and happy life together. The happy pair received many useful and handsome presents. We congratulate you Frank, though you have incurred the envy of nearly all the boys in town by plucking some of the sweetest and ripest fruit from Covelo's "Tree of Marriageable Maidens." G. F.

NEWS OF THE WORLD.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Compulsory Vaccination of Members of Chamber of Commerce—Opening of British Parliament—Fast Time Across the Atlantic.

The anarchists of Chicago are threatening the life of Prince Henry when he visits that city.

It has been decided that Prince Henry shall sail from the United States on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd line Feb. 15. Elaborate preparations are being made for social entertainments on board the emperor's yacht Hohenzollern.

A new transatlantic steamship line, the New York and Continental Steamship company, proposes to make the run in 5 days 23 hours from the record time for crossing the Atlantic. The company will substitute in its new boats the turbine engine for that now in use to secure a speed of 30 knots an hour.

President Charles J. Fick of the Plainfield (N. J.) board of health has ordered that all cats and dogs found about houses where contagious diseases have appeared shall be killed. Traps have been set about the smallpox hospital for the purpose of catching rats before they spread disease.

General William J. Palmer has given 100 acres of land and $50,000 to found a sanitarium for consumptives in Colorado Springs. As already planned, two buildings will cost $200,000 and $50,000 respectively. The first will accommodate 100 patients who are able to pay a fair price for treatment. Fifty poorer patients will be accommodated in the other building. The revenue from the larger building will mainly support the smaller one. The company will be incorporated. General Palmer, on retiring from the presidency of the Rio Grande Western road, gave $1,000,000 to officers and employees.

Mrs. Hannah C. Sprinkle, residing near Paris, Ills., has been married twice, divorced twice and allowed alimony both times, to the extent of $15,000, all inside of two years. Recently she was granted a divorce from Simon J. Sprinkle, a wealthy and retired farmer and allowed $5,000 alimony. Cruelty was charged. Two years ago she was divorced from Sprinkle and at that time she was awarded $10,000 alimony. She alleged cruelty in her bill, but two months after she had been paid $10,000 she married Mr. Sprinkle again. The $10,000 still has in her name, and $5,000 more will now be added.

King Edward opened parliament with great pomp and ceremony, and along the route of the procession the king and queen, looking remarkably well, were greeted enthusiastically. In his speech King Edward said Great Britain's relations with other powers continued to be most friendly, but regretted that the war in South Africa is not yet concluded. "I have concluded," said his majesty, "with the president of the United States a treaty, the provisions of which will facilitate the construction of an interoceanic canal under guarantees that its neutrality will be maintained and that it will be open to the commerce and shipping of all nations."

Lord Cranborne, under secretary for foreign affairs, in the British house of commons made an official statement concerning collective action of European states in view of the outbreak or expected outbreak of the late war between the United States and Spain. He said the British government declined to associate itself with proposals which seemed open to the objection of putting pressure on the government of the United States and offering an opinion on its action. The under secretary said he was unable to lay the papers in the case on the table. This statement was received with a burst of ringing cheers.

The kennel of St. Bernard dogs, valued at $50,000, and owned by Frank J. Gould, at Lyndhurst, the country seat of Helen Gould, at Irvington-on-Hudson, is to be disposed of by Feb. 15 when the building will be transformed into a cooking school for the free use of poor girls, says a New York dispatch. The kennel, which is a large Colonial cottage, finished in hard wood, is to be enlarged and improved. There will be a big range and plain tables, and Miss Gould will employ experts to teach.

Miss Rose Jeanne Regensburg and Kano Oshima, a Japanese, were married in New York, and Oshima, by going contrary to the wishes of his father in not marrying a high-caste Japanese girl selected for him, relinquishes his right to 1,000,000 yen. His father wrote to him that property which had been in the family for centuries would not be allowed to fall into the hands of those in whose veins there was other than Japanese blood. The bride, a pretty brunette of 24, is the daughter of Mrs. Marie Regensburg-Ressler.

A squad of policemen guarded the Chamber of Commerce at Minneapolis while a force of medical inspectors armed with vaccine points proceeded to vaccinate 300 bulls and bears. In a twinkling all the doors were barred. There was a stampede, but the brokers found that the fire-escapes were guarded by police, and they ultimately submitted to the point. This action was considered necessary, as it was discovered recently that one of the members had smallpox.

As the result of a conference between President Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church, and the manager of the Deseret News, the official organ of the church in Salt Lake, an edict has gone forth that all the men employed of The News who are not married on or before June 30 next will be asked for their resignations. It is estimated that the order will affect about 25 employees of the paper, and those who are not matrimonially inclined are in sore distress.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The isthmian canal commission has reported in favor of the Panama route, and recommended the acceptance of the $40,000,000 offer of the Panama Canal company.

The sum of $40,000 has been appropriated for the contingent expenses of the state department in connection with the entertainment of Prince Henry. He is expected to arrive in Washington on the morning of Feb. 24.

Secretary Root, in talking of his plan to abandon the government transport service, said there was not the slightest danger that the transports would make Seattle or any other port than San Francisco their terminus.

The agitation reported to have sprung up in Denmark in opposition to the transfer of the Danish West Indies to the United States has administered, in the opinion of the officials at Washington, a check to the proposition which will operate indefinitely.

John L. Sullivan in Realistic Part.

The Academy of Music at Chelsea, says a Boston dispatch, was packed to see John L. Sullivan play Legree in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." He gave a realistic exhibition of the overseer's brutality which was not down on the bills or called for by the stage "business." Incidentally he whaled poor Uncle Tom until the old slave fainted dead away. Applause in the earlier parts of the play seemed to have intoxicated the expugilist, for he became more and more enamored of the part, and when he came to the scene where he whips the old slave he plied the black snake whip, not in stage lashes, not in the air, but on the body and legs of the actor. Dozens of times the whip struck the man. Exclamations were heard behind the scenes, and the slave cried out in agony and finally fainted away.

After the play John L. Sullivan said: "Carried away be me art. Forgot meself in de part. Any artist likely to do dat."

The entire traffic on the local narrow-gauge road in Alameda, Cal., was suspended for two hours while wood-choppers cut up a giant eucalyptus tree that had fallen across the tracks on the curve near Bay street and just beyond Morton station.

Wide devastation has been caused in 140 thickly populated districts of Japan by the poisoning of several rivers with refuse from the smelters of the great Ashiwo copper mines of Nippon. Vegetation in these districts is entirely dead, and the government is being compelled to remit the land tax. Dead cattle and horses are strewn along the banks of the Waterase river and two tributaries, and further putrify their waters. All human beings who drink the waters of these streams die soon after.

Too Valuable to Lose.

An important cricket match was scheduled in an English village, and, to the disappointment of everybody, the best player was unable to play owing to a sprained wrist. The new curate was hurriedly substituted and by his brilliant play secured a victory for the local team. The next morning as the squire, himself an enthusiastic cricketer, was leaving the church, where the curate had just preached his first sermon, he was asked by the vicar what he thought of the new curate.

"Oh," responded the squire, "his voice is weak, his doctrine's shaky, he isn't as learned as he should be, but his cricket is a fair eye opener. We must keep him, even if we have to pay him double the salary."

Every man is brave whose conscience is clear and whose cause is just. Every man is a coward who has a guilty conscience and whose cause is unjust.

Repairing

Never the [illegible] sign for a medicine. Well, it's a good sign. Scott's Emulsion. It has to be repeated like all things and Scott's Emulsion the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear from worry, from over-work from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—all of the old ones are rack[illegible] from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood rich, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Novel Plan to Prevent Collisions.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad is preparing to install a system of electric signals designed to prevent accidents. The new device displays a signal in the cab of the locomotive. The track is wired in blocks, the ram being used as the conductor. When there is but one train in a block the signal in the cab will burn white. Should another train touch the same block the light is instantly changed to red, which means danger. The signal is not affected by snow or sleet or by weather of any kind, and it will do its work among a maze of switches and crossings as well as on a straight track.

The management of the Santa Fe, according to the Chicago Record-Herald, has decided to spend $13,000,000 for equipment during the present year.

Owing to grave doctrinal differences, says a London dispatch, General Booth's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs Booth Clibborn, and Percy Clibborn have resigned from the Salvation Army and joined the church of John Alexander Dowie.

Oliver Lippincott of Los Angeles who is testing the practicability of the automobile as a means of transportation to the Grand canyon, has just returned to Flagstaff, A. T., from the canyon, making the trip in seven and a half hours. Prominent citizens are now organizing a stock company to operate a line of automobiles from Flagstaff to the Grand canyon, and expect to have it open by May 1.

Assemblyman Pendry has introduced a bill in the legislature of New York dealing with fraudulent oil companies. New York papers, says an Albany dispatch, have published extensive advertisements of alleged oil companies, and these advertisements, on their face, brand the companies as fraudulent. Many laboring people, with a few hundred dollars saved, have been caught. Most of the alleged bogus companies have fields located in Texas, but a few are in California. The bill provides for dealing with the evil by stringent state regulations.

Lum You, a Chinese who was sentenced to be hanged Jan. 31 for the murder of Oscar Bloom, and who escaped from jail, was recaptured about one mile from South Bend, Wash. When found the Chinese made little resistance and begged to be shot, but when he was shown a revolver he begged the officer to spare his life. He told his captor that he slipped out of the jail when the jailor brought him his dinner.

The disease that has caused so many deaths at Tonopah, Nev., has been diagnosed as a malignant form of pneumonia, complicated with congestion of the liver and weakness of the heart. The mercury registers during the day 60 degrees and at night drops to 5 and 10 degrees below zero. Miners more than any other class were affected, as they were not careful in guarding against the sudden change in temperature.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

The war department is advised of the surrender of 265 insurgents to Brigadier-General J. Franklin Bell at Cebu, Jan. 31. On Jan. 15 they took the oath at Camaran, Isabel.

The forces of Colonel Marisigan surrendered recently to General Bell, who is conducting the campaign against the insurgents in Batangas province. The Filipinos who surrendered included one colonel, one major, five captains and 12 lieutenants. They gave up 212 rifles and one cannon. All the insurgents who surrendered did so unconditionally. General Bell ordered the men disarmed. General Bell says the surrender practically for the time being all the eastern part of Batangas.

A recent Manila dispatch says that a report has been received that a dugout canoe, in which 11 men of Company I of the Second infantry were traveling, is missing and probably lost. It is believed the men either perished or were captured.

An important capture was made in Laguna province, Luzon, when eight men of the Eighth infantry captured a woman insurgent named Aqueda Kahabagan. She recently commanded an insurgent force of 800 men, 300 of whom carried rifles, while 500 were armed with bolos. For six years past she has been leading insurgent bands against Spaniards and Americans.

Defeated by Nature.

Nutmegs grow on little trees which look like small pear trees and which are generally not over twenty feet high. The flowers are very sweet like the lily of the valley. They are pale and very fragrant. The nutmeg is the seed of the fruit, and mace is the thin covering over the seed. The fruit is about the size of a peach. When ripe, it breaks open and shows a little nut inside. The trees grow on the islands of Asia and tropical America. They bear fruit seventy or eighty years, having ripe fruit on them all the season. A fine tree in Jamaica has more than 4,000 nutmegs on it every year.

The Dutch used to have all this nutmeg trade, as they owned the Banda island and conquered all the other traders and destroyed all the trees. To keep the price up they once burned three piles of nutmegs, each of which was said to be "as big as a church."

Nature did not sympathize with such meanness. The nutmeg pigeon, found in all the Indian islands, did for the world what the Dutch had determined should not be done—carried the seeds, which are their food, into all the surrounding country.

A Potent Plea.

"Huggins is your name, eh?" said the magistrate to the defendant, who was a trifle deaf. "Married or single?"

"Married," replied the defendant in a low voice.

"H'm! What's your excuse for being drunk? Speak louder."

"I say I'm married," the defendant shouted this time.

"Ah! That's sufficient excuse. I'm married myself. Discharged!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

THE TOUCH DOES IT

Benson's Plasters are like your other friends—they hate to see you in pain or in weakness and are dog-tired hearing you complain about it. They want to cure you and send you along to your business—whole and happy. They can do it and will do it. Try them on. What for? Why for any cough or cold you may be troubled with, or any bothering pain or ache, or worry with kidneys or liver. Possibly some old clutch of muscular rheumatism renders an arm or a leg worth only half price just now. For anything that makes the machine work slow and stiff, with pain maybe in the motion of it, clap a Benson's Porous Plaster squarely on the bad spot. They are the get-out-to-morrow plasters—not the sort that go to sleep on your skin like a cat on a cushion. There is comfort and speedy relief in the touch of them. No other external remedy, no matter how made or how called, is worthy to live in the same street with Benson's Plasters. Pains and ailments melt away under them as a sheet of ice does under the Spring sun. You cannot foretell the weather but you can always foretell the effect of Benson's Plasters; it is as sure as the effect of a hot breakfast in a hungry man's stomach. But look out for substitutes. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

TWO CURIOUS BIRDS.

The Long Billed Avocet and the Black Necked Stilt.

There are two birds, more or less common in the central part of the United States and abundant in the far west, which occasionally stray eastward to the middle and north Atlantic coast and have been seen on Long Island. These are the American avocet and the black necked stilt, both of them sufficiently striking in appearance to attract immediate attention. The avocet is a slender creature, sixteen to eighteen inches from end of bill to tip of tail. Its wings and shoulders are black, the tail pearl gray. The rest of the plumage is white, changing to a chestnut brown on the neck and head. Such a combination of colors is noticeable enough, but when to this are added extraordinarily long blue legs and a very slender bill, comprising nearly a fourth of the bird's entire length and having a strong upward curve, a most fantastic effect results.

Its actions are no less peculiar than its looks. Wading in shallow water, it bends forward so that the curve of the bill touches the bottom, and it swings it back and forth in unison with its advancing steps. The movement suggests a man swinging a scythe, the object being to discover with the very sensitive bill the food which the muddy bottom conceals.

The black necked stilt somewhat resembles the avocet, but its needle-like bill is perfectly straight and is not swung from side to side in walking. The length of its bill has led the western farmers to call it the lawyer. In alighting the stilt is as awkward as a boy just learning to walk on wooden stilts, and it seems to have fully as much difficulty in gaining its equilibrium, stumbling and tottering when it first alights.

William Hutchman, proprietor of the Central hotel at Aberdeen, Wash., was arrested just after setting fire to the Methodist church. He confessed that his object was to burn the Central hotel for the insurance. He set fire to it while the fire department was busy at the church. Inflammable material was found in the basements of the church and hotel.
